

With this assignment We did cart sorting for the Eindhoven rock city and let few people do it. we did an open cart sorting and take pictures and see how we could also improve the website for them or give them suggestions.

What I have learned:

Doing cart sorting as well is a verry good way to see how people filter different things. Also to see how people would put the different categories and subcategories.

How I think it went:

I think it went well. Learned more about what cart sorting is and how it could help improve a website or get different ideas as well.
