

I also use the adobe colour wheel to see how the colours go with each other for my portfolio and see if the text goes well with the background colour. Also, I use the colour pallet as well to find the best combinations.

What I learned:

That it is important to see what colour fits best with the background and if people can read it or not and thank to the adobe colour wheel you can verify it by using the tool where you put a background colour and the text colour and see if it fits or not.

How I think it went:

I think it went well I learned more about colour as well in my lectures but using the adobe wheel really helps.
