I did a photoshoot for my project Eindhoven rock city to promote their merch. For the edits we use photoshop to edit the pictures and make it darker and with the pop up of the colour yellow.

What I learned:

That photoshop has a lot of tools to use and that it can be complicated. also knowing how to edit is verry important.

How I think it went:

I think it went well at first, I was a bit overwhelmed with the number of options photoshop gives u but after watching different YouTube videos and understanding it I managed to make something nice.
